

NICK DAY

VICE PRESIDENT OF CLIENT SOLUTIONS

As the VP of Client Solutions at Roundtable Learning, Nick oversees the sales team's development and growth, including business development and account management.

Nick works with learning and development leaders from Fortune 500 companies to solve their business challenges by redefining What's Possible in Learning with AR/VR.

With a passion for learning technologies, Nick travels across the US as a featured speaker for VR training projects and meets with learning and development professionals about building blended learning programs.

Before joining Roundtable Learning, he led the Canadian division's sales efforts at Park Place Technologies, a global leader in Data Center Maintenance. Earlier in his career, he held various corporate banking and risk management roles at a major financial institution.
