

Innovative Training Solutions That Drive Employee Growth

Do you think training is one-size-fits-all? Neither do we.

At Roundtable Learning, we partner with your organization to create one-of-a-kind training programs that utilize innovative technologies, reflect your brand, and show measurable business results.

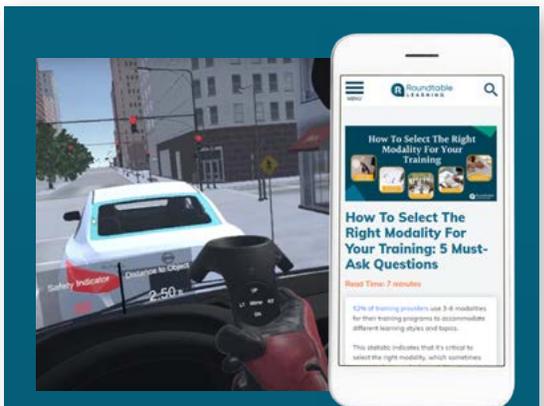

A partnership with Roundtable readies the workforce for tomorrow through a trusted collaboration that is built to last. Businesses have training needs and Roundtable is here to help solve them.

Reimagine the Future of Learning with Innovative Technologies

With strong training roots as a leading learning management system provider, Roundtable helps drive organizational success for global organizations. Our experts recognized the need for organizations to enhance traditional corporate learning practices and embrace more interactive, engaging programs.

We've reimaged what learning is by building innovative training solutions that meet business needs and performance goals.

To help organizations enrich current learning programs, we develop custom learning content catered to their business goals and learners' needs.

Innovative learning solutions have the potential to take your existing training to new heights. We're here to help you explore those possibilities and cutting-edge technologies.

As a full-service learning partner, we work with your team to ensure your employees reach their learning objectives by delivering the highest-quality learning content.

We work with your team to plan, develop, and deliver custom training programs across the following modalities:

- eLearning
- Instructor-Led Training
- Virtual Instructor-Led Training
- Video Learning
- Augmented Reality
- Virtual Reality

Support Throughout Every Stage of the Employee Lifecycle

Your employees drive the success of your business. From the time an employee joins your organization to the time they retire, there are opportunities for growth and support. To help them reach their full potential, Roundtable is here to partner with your organization and provide support throughout every stage of the employee lifecycle.

Our team provides learning solutions that not only meet your training needs, but also produce measurable business results. Through a trusted partnership, our team learns about your employees' goals and delivers one-of-a-kind learning solutions to elevate your existing training to the next level.

Regardless of your training needs, Roundtable is eager to unlock your employees' full potential and take your organization to new heights.

Full Transparency & Collaborative Project Management from Start to Finish

Roundtable works with your subject-matter experts throughout the entire development of your program, maintaining full transparency and agility every step of the way.

We start with a discovery period where we consult with you to understand your training needs, past learning successes, and training challenges. From there, our experts assign a project management team that works with you to determine the optimal delivery format for your learning program.

Together, we conduct a training needs analysis to identify knowledge and performance gaps and set the foundation for generating solutions.

Based on your learning objectives, we work with your subject-matter experts to select the best modality or modalities that meet your learners' needs.

We work closely with your team to develop and review content, ensuring it's relevant and effective for your business needs.

Your training pilot program is rolled out, and metrics and feedback are collected that help indicate where revisions must be made.

Based on feedback from the pilot program, updates are made and the final training program is delivered to your organization.